Ambrose Bierce, in the Examiner's Pratt, ventures to remark:

A Nevada lawyer named Coffin is annoying Mr. Sam Davis of the Carson Appeal. Mr. Coffin appears to be, at present, rather fussy and loud in the mouth, but if he continues his policy of persecution he will soon be a self-contained man.

Mrs. Potter, of Kansas City, ran for Mayor. As woman suffrage had just been introduced in Kansas, it was thought that the lady had a walk over. She was beaten and her own sex, snowed her under almost unanimously. You can always depend on women to trample on other women if they get the chance. It's a way they have.

California office seekers in Washington, now register at the hotels as coming from Ohio and New Jersey. They find the colored porters don't ignore them so decidedly when they are loafing about the hotel.

The Carson Appeal, one of the live papers of Nevada, has turned volume 43. Sam Davis must be doing well, as we notice he has two offices, located in different parts of Carson. That's too much style for a Nevada journal.—Free Press.

The accident to James Shaw of Dayton, turns out to have been quite serious. He fell from a moving train on Saturday night and is now in this city for treatment. He fell on his side and it is feared that he has suffered internal injuries.

The APPEAL returns thanks to its California and Nevada exchanges who have indulged in some very pleasant remarks regarding us in connection with the recent lively deal the APPEAL has been engaged in with the attorney of the Bullion Bank in this city.

A special train will leave Virginia tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, for the benefit of persons wishing to attend the Allen-Turner fight. It will stop at Gold Hill, Mound House and Empire. The rate will be $1 for the round trip.

An investigation is being made in San Francisco to find out what rascally lawyer caused the disappearance of important papers in a criminal case. Well what will they do about it if they find the man? This is quite a common thing, but we never heard of a lawyer who was punished for it.

Catching chickens with a hook and line is a new business in Elko. The guilty parties are known, and if the thieving business is not stopped they will be prosecuted.—Independent.

The APPEAL claims the credit for this method of snaking chickens, for a Carson attorney, though as near as we can learn he never desired to patent his invention. The chickens he probably stuffed and mounted as specimens of various breeds; leastwise he never looked like a man who utilized chickens as a food article.

TOMORROW'S FIGHT.

The Likelihood of a Red Hot Contest.

The San Francisco Stock Report continues to jump on the Turner-Allen fight to come off here tomorrow night. It seems to be taking rather an unusual interest in the matter, so much so, that it is regarded as arising from some personal feeling. The charge that Turner has been drunk for the last week in San Francisco, is denied by telegraph reports from there. The statement that Allen has been all over the coast faking fights is disproved by the fact that he never had but one match on this coast and that was when he whipped Tom McIlwain at the Golden Gate Club, San Francisco in ten rounds. The following is his record.

Beat Fred Gross in thirteen rounds. Beat Charlie Simpson in three rounds. Fought a draw with Paddy Gorman, which was stopped by the police. Beat Jack Gardiner in twenty-two rounds. Beat Saxon in five rounds. Beat Ben Seth, the English champion, who fought Tommy Williams, now matched to fight Boston Smith, in New Orleans, in one round. Williams taking four rounds. Beat Jim Pettingal, for middle-weight championship of New Zealand, in four rounds. Beat Tom McIlwain in Golden Gate Club, San Francisco, in ten rounds.

In other words he has never been beaten. This does not look like the record of a poorly qualified fighter.

Turner has fought many hard battles, and during his entire career has met but two opponents who succeeded in defeating him. He beat Frank Frayne in nine rounds; Bill Price in two rounds; Tom Heal in three rounds; June Dennis in three rounds; Jim Hall in three rounds; Joe Martell in eight rounds.

Fought Tom Low, who weighed 200 pounds, a bare knuckle fight at Milton, and defeated him in thirteen rounds. Beat Pete Brown in four rounds with one hand, having broken one in the first round. Fought and defeated Dave Hatch twice, once in two rounds, and again in thirty-three rounds. Defeated Wm. McPherson in four rounds; Bill Hall in nineteen rounds, and Wiley Evans in seventeen rounds. Also defeated Billy Hennessy, Paddy Gorman, Dan Egan, (Montana Kid) eight rounds; Black Pearl, eighteen rounds; Jack McCann in eight rounds.

He was beaten but twice once by Jim Williams of Salt Lake, in fourteen rounds and once by Denny Kellerher in fifteen rounds.

In all he has fought 47 battles and lost but two.

A Job Printers Woes.

The job printer of the APPEAL is having a hard time of it, a portion of the job office being in the Bullion Bank and a portion in the old office. The press is back again to its old place.

Job work is necessarily rather slow here now. The job man after filling in a line oriental script marches down on Main street and hunts an ornamental dash, skips back to the Olcovich building for some pica quads and then hails Sergeant's express wagon for a ride to the bank block to see if he can find any slugs.

It's slow work when one is in a rush.

The brass rules are in the Bank Block and the two em nonpareil quads here at the old stand.

The shooting sticks are all in the Bank Block of course and the plaining mallet and the minion leaders up here. We mention these little matters so that patrons of this office will understand why job work is not being turned out with lightning rapidity.

In a few days the office will once more be all in one block a united and consolidated whole.

Oroville Wins.

The deciding match between Oroville and Carson was shot off on Sunday. The score stood 994 to 963 in favor of Oroville. The match between Carson and Woodland with first class men was won by Carson. The score stood 860 834 with ten men.

Card from Billy Armstrong

Ed. APPEAL—I wish to say that the attitude of the Report toward the Turner-Allen fight under my management, is due solely to the spite of one Brown, mismanager of the sporting columns of the paper.

It sprung from trouble I had with him about a year ago in Corbett's saloon.

He approached Mr. Horton on May 14th in San Francisco on the night of Corbett's last exhibition, and asked him to roast me in the Post. Mark Stone was a witness to his request.

Brown became notorious as being a confederate of the pool room men who got messages from the wires in advance of the reading of them from the box. He handled and bet money on a certainty, being used as a capper and catpaw by the pool room men.

He borrowed $10 about two years ago from Love Lafferty of the Olympic Club and put him off from time to time, and when he last met Lafferty and was dunned for the money he told Lafferty to wait in a saloon until he got the money. He then sneaked out, and Lafferty has never seen him since.

He obtained $10 from a puglist of the Fastime Club and paid him in good notices, roasting those who declined to loan him money.

He never saw me fight but twice—a draw with Mike McCarthy, never beaten in this country, at the California Athletic Club, and once when I was defeated by Billy Smith, now considered the champion welter weight of the world.

He roasted Corbett for years until the proprietors saw he was making the paper a laughing stock and made him quit. He then began lauding Corbett to the skies.

His statement that Allen has been all over the Coast faking matches is a lie of whole cloth, as the man never fought but once on this coast and then defeated his man.

Brown is merely a detestable parasite in the pugilistic profession, living off the small sums he borrows from them, the petty draw downs he makes from a certain pool room, by ringing in the name of the place coupled with the free gin he gets putting cocktail routes in the columns of the papers which allows him to knock out the King's English in its columns.

I could make further revelations were it not for coupling the names of gentlemen with Brown. Every sporting man in San Francisco knows that five dollars will buy his opinion on any subject.

Yours,

BILLY ARMSTRONG.

A Saving Race.

The Truckee Republican says that a few days ago parties digging up the foundations of an old cabin, formerly occupied by some Italian laborers, found $2,125 buried in tin cans. The rightful owners came to the scene, proved their property and got it.

It causes one to wonder how laborers at $1.50 a day or $2.00 can save such sums. It is also worth reflecting on that every dollar of that gold is shipped back to Italy.

Sagebrush Talent at the Bay.

The leading writers on the Examiner now are ex-Nevada journalists. Arthur McEwen is the editor, Wells Drury assistant city editor, with Allen Kelly one of the leading special writers, and Charles Michelson of Virginia City one of the crack reporters.

With this combination of talent off the paper, the loss would be seriously felt by the Examiner readers.

Rodgers Wins.

The case of L. Baer vs. J. A. Rodgers, the Smith Valley litigation that occupied the attention of the Justice Court in this city last week, was decided yesterday by Justice Hawthorne. A verdict for $102.38 and costs, which amount to over $90, was allowed to defendant Rodgers. The case will probably be appealed.

Mr. Hofers Real Estate.

Friends of Mayor Hofer informed the APPEAL yesterday that the statement, that Mr. Hofer has only owned real estate since 1892 is misleading. He owns three pieces of real estate inside the city limits and valued at $1,000 and has owned real estate continuously since his first election as Mayor.
